

Connex Intended Use Statement

Welch Allyn Connex™ is intended for the collection and review of patient data, and also the communication of the data to information systems. It provides notifications when data deviates from ranges, allows manual entry of data, provides a means to identify and manage patients, and provides tools for enhancing productivity.

Health care providers and trained personnel are the intended users of the system.